AKUMA HELMETS AND GATOR CUSTOMS JOIN FORCES

Akuma Helmets of San Antonio, TX and Gator Customs of Crestwood, IL have joined forces to bring the world's first motorcycle helmets incorporating Gator Glass™ and I.P.S™ to the industry.

Gator Customs is known throughout custom bike building for their patented "Gator Glass", a revolutionary and innovative way to light up logos and designs from the inside of a bike. Akuma Helmets has gained worldwide recognition for its patented Integrated Power System (I.P.S.) which can power anything from LEDs to communication systems in helmets.

Combining both Gator Glass™ and I.P.S™ into a street helmet now offers riders a higher degree of visibility and style while not sacrificing the helmet's aerodynamics or adding undue weight to the helmet. The I.P.S™ powering the gator glass is completely rechargeable so there is no need to change any batteries, simply plug the helmet into a normal socket with the included charger to recharge.

The new Akuma G-Series helmets are both DOT and SNELL M2005 approved and will be available February 09.
